POLEMIC LECTURES!

The undersigned feels great satisfaction in announcing that

JOHN B. GOUGH ESQ.

whose reputation is world wide, will deliver the seventh lecture of the course, at Webb's Hall.

Wednesday Evening, Feb. 10th, '84.

SUBJECT:

TEMPERANCE!

Tickets 25 cents. To be had at the Bookstore and at the door. Hall will open at 6 1/2 and lecture commence at 7 1/2 o'clock precisely.

LECTURE COMMITTEE.

February 10th, 1884.

SOLDIERS' FESTIVAL!

VETERANS WELCOMED HOME!!

The Re-enlisted Veterans of Trumbull County, at home on furlough, will meet at Warren, on Thursday, the 13th inst., and partake of a dinner prepared for them by friends and patriots, in token of their appreciation of their illustrious services, in behalf of their country. The occasion will be enlivened by Music, Speeches and Sentiment, and the veteran soldier will see, that his hardships have not been endured in vain, nor his life offered in his country's defense, for naught.

JUNUS DANA, G. T. TOWNSEND, T. J. MCLEIN, J. M. BROWN, G. P. STULL, H. B. PERKINS, Mrs. J. M. STULL, Mrs. H. B. HARMON, Mrs. H. B. PERKINS, Mrs. A. WENTZ, Mrs. LEWIS HOYT, Mrs. G. N. HAPGOOD.

COMMITTEE.

Warren, February 8th, 1884.

John B. Gough this Evening.

As announced last week, Mr. Gough will lecture at Webb's Hall this evening.

At the earnest request of many citizens the Lecture Committee has selected "Temperance" as the subject of the lecture.

This subject is really Mr. Gough's forte, and gives more opportunity for the display of his fervid and glowing eloquence than any other. His lectures are all good, but his temperance address is unapproachable. A gentleman who has entertained our citizens upon the lecture stand twice during the present course, remarked when here the other day, that he once stood up two hours to hear John B. Gough speak on temperance, and that he never stood to hear but one other man as long—that was Daniel Webster. Mr. Gough's lecture will be the occasion of the winter in the lecture line. Notwithstanding the great expense of procuring Mr. Gough the Committee are concluded to keep the price of tickets at the usual figures, so that all can afford to go.

Muff Lost.

Between Newton Falls and Warren, some two or three weeks since, a lady's fur muff, nearly new, was lost. The finder will be liberally rewarded on leaving it at the store of L. T. Soule, Newton Falls, or at this office.

Soldiers Welcome.

We are requested by the Committee to say that if any of our citizens should be inadvertently overlooked in the soliciting of contributions for the Soldiers' Welcome, they will please hand any contribution they may wish to give to either of the Committee, or leave it at McLain & Son's Banking House.

Donation Visit.

A large number of the friends of Elder Lamphear, of the Disciple Church, assembled at the Hotel of Wm. Williams, Esq., a few evenings since, and the result was a donation of about one hundred and fifty dollars. A well deserved present.

New Dresses.

The Erie Dispatch and Connecticut Reporter come to us now, dressed in new material, looking clean, smiling and readable. Success to enterprise.

Notice.

The United Presbyterians of Warren and vicinity, will have their communion on next Sabbath the 14th inst. Services on Sabbath at 10 o'clock a. m.; at 4 o'clock p. m.; and at 7 o'clock in the evening. Services also on Thursday preceding, at 10 o'clock a. m. and at 11 p. m.; also on Saturday at 11 o'clock p. m.

Rev. J. T. Telford, of Greenville, Pa. will be present to assist on the occasion. The community are invited to attend.

Fruit Trees.

To those intending to set out fruit trees next spring, I would say that I have as fine an assortment of Apple trees, as any dealer, which I will deliver, at less prices than foreign agents can. It is my intention to visit each township in the county, before time for setting. In the meantime orders may be left with Peck & Brother, Free, & Smith, Porter & Son, and Hoyt & Stratton.

Wm. HAPGOOD.
Warren, Jan. 20th, 1884.—4w.

Timothy and Clover Seed.

The attention of County Merchants, Farmers, and others, wishing to buy prime Timothy Seed, is called to the advertisement of Hoyt & Stratton, in another column.

February 10th, 1884.—5w.

Died in the Richmond Prison.

Elijah Champlin, of the 6th Ohio Cavalry, died in prison at Richmond, on the 30th of December. Mr. Champlin was a resident of Johnston, in this county, and was a brave, gallant soldier. He was taken prisoner by the rebels some months ago, and died of disease.

New Songs.

Among the new songs which have lately been published, are "The Realm of the West," words by Amanda F. Jones, music by Charles G. Degehard; "Conquer or Die," words by Maggie Kilmer, music by H. Gooden; "Through Not My Sister's Picture," words by Mrs. G. S. Kellogg, music by T. Martin Towne, all of which are excellent songs. The "Realm of the West," is particularly good, the words and music being well adapted to each other. These songs are published by W. W. Whitney, Toledo, Ohio. Price 50 cents each.

A Sewing Machine.

Has come to be considered as much a necessity in a well furnished home, as any other article of household furniture. There are almost as many patents, patterns and styles as there are purchases. Many cheap machines are made only to sell, and even after prove a source of annoyance, while a good machine, for which a fair price is paid, returns the purchase money many fold. Before purchasing, test thoroughly every machine offered you. Wheeler & Wilson's Sewing Machines are the most popular machine in use. They have manufactured and sold 7945 within the last three months. Price from $50 and upwards. Call and see them at Andrews & Weeks.

Feb. 10-2w. S. A. COBBIN, Agent.

Lieut. V. N. Weir.

Again we are called to the sad duty of recording the death of one of our young soldiers.

Lieut. Weir of the 86th Ohio Volunteer Infantry, after a brief six months campaign in Kentucky and Tennessee, reached this place on the 29th ult., and died on the following Wednesday, aged 26 years. He had resided in Warren about eight years, and at the time of his death was a partner in the firm of Bouton & Wier. His remains, attended by a few of his companions from Warren, were taken to Farmington for interment.

Funeral services were held in the Congregational Church, which was crowded by the friends and acquaintances of the deceased. A very appropriate discourse was preached by the Rev. R. Hoisington of the Presbyterian Church of Warren. The Farmington Independent Company was in attendance, and over the brave soldier they discharged their farewell volley.

V. N. Weir was a young man of marked integrity and purity of life, and that he was actuated by sincere motives and high purposes, was apparent to all who came in contact with him.

Six months ago he left us in the fresh vigor of early manhood. His brief military career is soon and sadly ended. He died in the esteem of all who knew him. Another victim to the carnal of treason.

Col. Asper.

Col. J. F. Asper is about transplanting himself into the "wild cat" region of Pennsylvania, to Corry, on the A. & G. W. R. R. at its junction with the Oil Creek railroad, where he will resume the practice of law, which was interrupted during his campaigning as a soldier. Col. Asper was the first man to enlist in this place, and fought bravely in that indomitable regiment, the Ohio 7th, from its first organization in 1861, until a few months since, when he was compelled, by wounds, to be mustered out of the service. He has had a long experience as a lawyer in all the courts, from that of Justice of the Peace, to the Supreme Court of the United States. He is a patriotic, liberal citizen, ever ready to give his time or his money for the public good.

Small Pox.

We have taken some pains to ascertain the exact state of facts in regard to the cases of small pox which have occurred in this town and vicinity, as very exciting reports concerning it in the family of Mr. A. Scofield, living on a farm belonging to the estate of the late Jacob Perkins, on the Benetta road, about a mile from the Court House. Here there were eight cases, one in the family of a neighbor across the road, and one case occurred on the west side of the river, in all ten cases, not one of which proved fatal. Most of them have been very light, only one considered at all dangerous. There have been no new cases of late, and all alarm has subsided here. In fact, we think it well to have a case of small pox now and then, just to remind people, and especially parents, of the necessity of having every person in their family vaccinated. Had the family of Mr. Scofield been vaccinated, which, as we are informed was not the case, the disease would not have occurred here, at this time.

Since the above was in type, we have received from Dr. F. A. Bierce, the following:

Editor Chronicle—I wish, for the benefit of the people in the country, and some small pox families in town, to correct the wild rumors that are afloat, in regard to the above disease. If one were to give credit to half that they say, and stories generally in circulation, the conclusion would be inevitable, that one fourth of the inhabitants of Warren were dead, and another fourth going blind with small pox. Fortunately, at present, none have died, and none have lost their sight. There are sick, and recovering, in the place, ten cases; eight of the cases are variola. Three are confluent, three semi-confluent, and two of the distinct kind. The disease is confined to three families, in the outskirts of the town, with a reasonable prospect of not spreading further. Vaccination is a very sure protection against variola, except in some instances, where a peculiarly susceptible organization demands the holding of the nose—People about the country, can come to Warren, do their business, stay all night, and go home, or anywhere else, in perfect safety. FRED. A. BIERCE, M. D.

Warren, Feb. 8.

Burglars Still Around.

The dwelling house of T. J. McLain, Jr., in this town, was entered by burglars on Sabbath evening last. Mr. McLain had gone to church, leaving his wife at home alone. Once or twice she thought she heard footsteps, but concluding it was only imagination, and said nothing to her husband, upon his return. They had scarcely retired for the night, when the noises were repeated, coming from the lower part of the house. Mr. McLain got up at once, armed himself, and passed into the kitchen. While he was doing this, he whistled from the guard outside warned the thief inside to retire, which he did with a white skin. Mr. McLain opened the door leading down cellar, he heard the window sash drop behind the retreating villain. Mr. McLain hastened to the buttery window which overlooked the cellar-kitchen window; but the night was so intensely dark that he could discover nothing. Hearing a noise in the yard, and unwilling to lose even a slight chance to give the rascals their deserts, he fired twice in the direction of the noise—with a white skin. If they escaped with a whole skin, they may thank the darkness for it.

The thieves entered through a window in the cellar-kitchen; but were so quickly discovered that they obtained very little plunder.

Several times of late, Mr. McLain has observed persons prowling about his premises after dusk, and has strong suspicions as to who the burglars were. Although a loyal man, he objects to "confession" of this kind, and suggests that it would evince wisdom on the part of those who must steal, if they would call where they can find more valuable booty and less lead.

Burglaries are becoming altogether too frequent in this section, and we advise our readers to give all providers and suspicious characters a warm reception that they will not forget.

Correspondence.

You once asked me to give any well of news I might have out this way. Well, on yesterday, our friends mostly from about Burgh Hill, came to our house with many good things to eat, and before leaving, left with us between 60 and 70 dollars, mostly cash. The young ladies presented Mrs. King with a splendid album, containing the Photograph Likenesses of Rev. B. Excell, and Lady, of your place, valued at ten dollars, and by the by this same people not long ago gave the Rev. E. H. Higbee, a donation of 70 or 80 dollars. Again this morning the Ladies from their way to the cars, with Baskets full of nice things to meet the diet, and after cheering and waving flags, the cakes, pies, cider, &c., &c., were strong along on the ends of barrels in the Station house.

The Rev. T. P. Warner made a short speech and offered a prayer. The lunch looked well and seemed to enjoy the lunch. One said to another, "this is better than we had at Chattanooga."

February 4th, 1884. D. KING.

The Brass Band.

For many years past, at intervals, a Brass Band has been in existence in this place, and each in turn would be broken up by the removal of some of its members to other localities, by death, and other causes, and the last one faded out some two or three years ago. A few months since a new one was organized, under the leadership of Mr. Adolphus Greter, and furnished with a splendid set of instruments of the most modern construction and of the best quality. Greter is one of the most accomplished musicians in the State, being master of every instrument used in the band, besides several other instruments, playing them all in a style which has very few equals, and is as good a teacher as performer. In the present band are several of the members of the old band, veterans in music, and excellent performers. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, under these circumstances, the band should improve rapidly, and that we should now have one of the very best amateur bands in the country. We hope the town will long have the pleasure of listening to its inspiring music.

Business Notice.

We mentioned, last week, that Judge Spear had disposed of his planing mill to Mr. Warren Packard, who we are pleased to learn, intends to largely increase the capacity of the establishment and the number of employees, making it more than ever an important part of the business industry of our town.

Mr. P. has a number of saw-mills under constant contribution, in this State, and the pine regions of Pennsylvania, to furnish the large quantities of lumber his business will require.

Judge Spear, when on the eve of severing the intimate association that had so long pleasantly existed between him and employees and himself, invited them to meet him, a few evenings since, at the National Hotel, where a sumptuous repast had been prepared for the occasion. The company consisted of fifteen to twenty persons, the new proprietor, Mr. Packard being one of the guests. After the efforts of mine host and hostess of the National had been amply discussed, and unanimously decided in the affirmative, a few appropriate remarks were made by Mr. Spear, in which he reverted to his forty years campaign and experience in Warren, in the Saw business, during which time he had seen it rise from a very humble beginning to its present proportions. He also spoke of the kindness and faithfulness of his employees, some of whom had for years been in the establishment. Remarks, appropriate to the occasion, were also made by Mr. Packard. Other gentlemen present were also called out who responded briefly, after which the company adjourned to the parlor, and spent an hour in agreeable conversation.

We like the spirit manifested in these social interviews. It places employer and employees in that relation to each other which goes far to disarm all jealousy and establish mutual confidence between the parties concerned.

Continental Monthly for February.

We have found the February number of this excellent magazine very readable. It opens with an interesting review of "Thomas Jefferson," as seen by the light of 1863. The other articles are, The English Press; The Treasury Report and the Red Man's Plea; Buckle, Draper, and a Science of History; Diary of Frances Krasinska; Petroleum; The Angels of War; A Tragedy of Error; Was He Successful; North and South; Editor's Table, &c.

Artistic.

The magnificent Panorama of Dr. Kane's Arctic Expedition, which has drawn such immense audiences in all the large cities of the Union, during the past seven years, will be exhibited at Webb's Hall to-morrow, Friday and Saturday evenings.

An investment of 25 cents here, will give you a two years voyage around the magnificent splendors of the far off regions, including as Prof. Seager says upon his small bill, "two years aboard (what a meat, bear meat, rat soup, puppy pie, and other delicacies). Several "racy escapes" and an opportunity to climb the North Pole. Prof. Seager, by the way, delivers an eloquent lecture descriptive of the scenes as they pass—and also sings the best songs and ballads of the day—On Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the children and those who cannot attend at night, will have an opportunity at the reduced rates of 15 cents for adults, and 10 cents for children.

The Weddell House, Cleveland.

This hotel, so many years a favorite with the public, has recently been much improved, renovated and modernized in all its ample interior arrangements. The hotel is now "two years aboard (what a meat, bear meat, rat soup, puppy pie, and other delicacies). Several "racy escapes" and an opportunity to climb the North Pole. Prof. Seager, by the way, delivers an eloquent lecture descriptive of the scenes as they pass—and also sings the best songs and ballads of the day—On Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the children and those who cannot attend at night, will have an opportunity at the reduced rates of 15 cents for adults, and 10 cents for children.

Washington, D. C. We had an opportunity, a few days since, of looking through the Weddell, and found its spacious parlors, reception rooms, chambers and dining-hall, all remodeled and refitted in the most elegant style. Everything about the house, from basement to attic is new, every article of furniture having been made to special order for the house. We assure any of our readers who may visit Cleveland, that they will find the Weddell the pleasantest hotel they have yet met with in this city, and we are not alone in the opinion that it has no equal, at least no superior, in the West.

A New and Cheap Atlas of the World.

We have been shown by Mr. W. S. Woodrow, Agent for the work in Warren, a copy of "Southey's Atlas of the World." It is printed on heavy paper, imperial quarto, 64 pages, maps, &c., finely colored and handsomely bound. The atlas is furnished at the moderate price of five dollars. It is well worth the purchase, and is a want long felt, that of a good Atlas for the people, at a low price. The high prices of others have driven the masses of their benefit. It is described as follows:

The maps are colored in Country, and show County Towns, Villages, Railroads with principal Canals, &c. The places of principal battles during the rebellion, are also distinctly marked.

In Foreign Countries, New Boundaries and Explorations have been carefully laid down.

The statistical matter of the United States portion of which is taken from the last (8th) census, contains:

The population of the World according to Religion, with a colored chart.

The population of the World according to Race: The principal Mountains and Rivers of the World, with a colored chart, showing their relative heights and lengths respectively.

The population of every Country and State, and the principal Cities of the United States, alphabetically arranged.

The total population, free and slave, of the U. S. Territories for 1860.

The aggregate population of the U. S. at various different periods, from 1790 to 1860.

The number of miles of Railroads in the United States.

The number of miles of Telegraphs in the United States.

The religious denominations in the United States.

The States of the United States, their places and dates of birth, date of death and age on assuming the Presidency.
